23rd International Conference
May, 21– 23, 2009
Osijek (Croatia)

SPACE AND TIME IN LANGUAGE: LANGUAGE IN SPACE AND TIME

Key-note speakers:

Vyvyan Evans (Bangor, UK)

Günter Radden (Hamburg, Germany)

Milena Žic Fuchs (Zagreb, Croatia)

First circular

Topics and methodology:

Papers are invited on substantial, original, and unpublished research on theoretical and applied linguistics aspects of the relation of space, time and language, including, but not limited to, the following:

- space in cognition and language
- physical vs abstract (socio-cultural) vs virtual space, as reflected in language

- the relation of embodiment and environment, as reflected in language
- time in cognition and language
- the relation of space and time in language
- physical and fictive motion in language
- grammar of space
- time and linguistic categories

The relation of space, time and language can be discussed from a descriptive (synchronic) point of view, but ideally it should be approached from one or more of the following perspectives:

- contrastive
- typological
- contact linguistic
- cross-lectal
- acquisitional and FLT
- diachronic
- corpus linguistic

Apart from the plenary key-note speeches, the conference programme will consist of 20-minute presentations in sessions (a 15-minute talk followed by a 5-minute question-and-answer session) and a poster session.
