

1. Course title: International Relations and Regionalism in (East and South) Asia	Credits* 5	Course code -
Type of the course EQFS level: 5th Lecture 1/week Practice 0/week	Assessment: Examination 60% Assignment 40% Approval 65%
Semester (according to the standard curriculum): 1
Course availability (according to the standard curriculum): Spring
Language of instruction (if not in Hungarian): English
Prerequisites (according to the standard curriculum): English B2
Type of the course (compulsory, obligatory elective, free elective): compulsory
Course schedule: http://www.kodolanyi.hu/neptun/
Course objectives:
Learning outcomes:
Knowledge:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Advanced knowledge of a field of work or study, involving a critical understanding of theories and principles ■ Degree holders are familiar with main characteristics and data of different civilizations, ■ They are experienced in analyzing different cultures, historical and political events and processes.
Skills
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ Advanced skills, demonstrating mastery and innovation, required to solve complex and unpredictable problems in a specialized field of work or study ■ Manage complex technical or professional activities or projects, taking responsibility for decision-making in unpredictable work or study contexts; take responsibility for managing professional development of individuals and groups ■ is capable of making decision preparatory reports and drawing decisions by using different theories, tools in routine and non-routine environment using appropriate concepts, approaches and methods. ■ is capable of understanding, analyzing adapting to relevant international political processes, functional policies, and monitoring changing environment. ■ is capable of cooperation, working in teams, leading them, for cooperation I interdisciplinary projects.
Attitudes
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ■ capable of proactive behavior, resolving problems, for constructive behavior.

- problem solving and critical analysis: analyzing facts and circumstances to determine the cause of a problem and identifying and selecting appropriate solutions.
- Ability to work with people from a range of cultures.

Generic Attitudes

Enhanced work ethics
 Contribute to discussions and ask relevant questions
 Formulating independent opinions in a critical manner
 Improvement in analysing and solving complicated cases
 More understanding of global legal issues

Foreign language competences

Students can function independently and with a great deal of precision on a wide variety of subjects and in almost any setting without any prior preparation.

1. Can understand a wide range of demanding, longer texts, and recognize implicit meaning.
2. Can express ideas fluently and spontaneously without much obvious searching for expressions.
3. Can use language flexibly and effectively for social, academic and professional purposes.
4. Can produce clear, well-structured, detailed text on complex subjects, showing controlled use of organizational patterns, connectors and cohesive devices.

Teaching methods:

This course will combine lectures, case studies, video clips, essay writings, oral presentations

Requirements (exam's evaluation criteria and list of topics):

- Assessments (2) (10%)
- Presenting a case study (20%)
- Mid-term Exam (20%)
- Final exam (short answers related to the course content) (40%)

Assessment & Grading:

Pass

Pass grade is given to the student who knows the significant parts of the course on a satisfactory level and is able to demonstrate an acceptable level of familiarity in the application of the content.

Satisfactory

Satisfactory grade is assigned to the student who knows significant portions of the subject matter of the course and is able to apply them with suitable safety.

Good

Good grade is assigned to the student who thoroughly knows the entire subject matter of the course and can safely apply its content;

Excellent:

Excellent grade is assigned to the student who thoroughly knows the entire subject matter in all of its inherent relationships and is able to independently apply his/her knowledge with absolute certainty.

Department/faculty responsible for the course: Department of Interdisciplinary International Studies

Required average students' working hours (number of credits multiplied by 30):

150 hours

Individual assignments (expected number of hours and list of activities):

30 contact hours

-preparation to presentation, once in a semester 4 hours

-processing of readings: 2 hours per week

-preparation for the revision: one hour per week

Course leader: Dr. Gyarmati István

Lecturers: Dr. Gyarmati István